ISSUE BETWEEN RUSSIA, OTHER ALLIES

The reports from the foreign ministers' conference in London are disquieting. They tell of bitter words between Russia's Molotoff and Britain's Bevin, of the efforts of America's Byrnes to bring about agreement and his failure. The reports tell of snubs to France and China, of refusal to compromise.

Writing towards the end of the conference, which closed Tuesday in a deadlock and with no plans made for a future conference, Herbert L. Mathews, New York Times correspondent, reports: "What was meant to be a peace conference ends in worse than failure. The world is further from peace tonight than it was three weeks ago when the Council of Foreign Ministers began."

The deadlock developed over a disagreement on protocol between Molotoff on one hand, and Byrnes and Bevin on the other. When the council first assembled, it was agreed that the representatives of the Big Five, Russia, England, U.S.A., China and France, would attend all meetings and take part in all discussions but on peace settlements, only those governments which had been signatories to the terms would be entitled to

This procedure was followed for 11 days when Molotoff insisted that the above proviso be expunged from the records and the discussion of the Danubian treaties be confined to the Big Three only. Byrnes and Bevin opposed such a move and the deadlock was formed. Molotoff argued that his interpretation of how the conference should proceed was based on the Potsdam declarations. Byrnes and Bevin argued that there has been an agreement on how the conference should proceed and to bow to Molotoff's demand would be to falsify the records.

Though Molotoff cited Potsdam as his precedent for the change in procedure, a New York Times correspondent, C. L. Sulzberger, notes that "it is believed that the Soviet Commissar was irritated by the continual four-to-one opposition that he was meeting."

It is too often forgotten that while Russia fought as one of the United Nations, it did so only after invaded by Germany. Russia fought for self protection. During the war, the others of the United Nations have been content to call Russia a democracy but in truth, Russia is a totalitarian state, a representative of the same system of government that the United Nations sought to erase in Germany and Italy.

This fact was of no account between Russia and the other United Nations as long as the Russian system of government was confined to Russia. Unfortunately, however, Russia has been taking definite steps to communize Balkan nations which lie along its borders. Under the guise of "free elections," communists are being placed in office by methods that not even Tammany Hall would have used in its heyday. Here, we believe, is the real issue between Molotoff and the other foreign ministers.

It is unfortunate that such an issue must arise but it is better that it be settled now than to ignore it against the time armed conflict will be the only way of settling it.

WHAT MAKES A HOME?

The housing shortage has had this advantage, it has renewed the meaning of the word "home." Crowded into too-small rooms, lacking security of tenure, accepting conditions unheard of in normal times without complaint, large numbers of Canadians are learning that a place to hang their hat does not in any sense of the word constitute a

Ask the man who has been crowded with his wife and children into three rooms where he must eat, sleep and live, if those rooms make a home. Ask the man who lives in a boarding house whether it is home. A roof to shed the rain, four walls to repell the cold meet the primary needs of existence but they do not make a home.

Home by our definition is a place where you put up curtain rods, bruising your thumb in the process. Home is where you rearrange the furniture four or five times in order to get the best effect. Home is where your possessions are gathered so they can be enjoyed by yourself and your friends. Home is where there is peace and security and well being. Large numbers of Canadians have had to do without these things which formerly they took for granted. As they moved about the country doing war work, or as wives followed their service husbands to their army camps and sought to make homes in a boarding house room, they have learned that a shelter is not enough. There must be scope to exercise that instinct we all possess to assert our personalities through our environment.. We can use a tumbledown shack for a shelter but until we have hung the curtains and laid the carpet, washed the windows and laid out the slippers beside the grate, it will not be a

In Passing

It is said that September's rainfall was the heaviest in 19 years. Participation in such an achievement is poor consolation for the inconvenience it has caused. The rain has hampered formers, it has made what can be a pleasant month a cold and damp one. The steady rain has frayed nerves and given us all cause to wish we were back in August even thought at times the heat was stifling.

What Others Think WHAT'S BAD ABOUT BUREAUCRATS

About the time of World War 1, Louis Brandeis was regarded as one of America's brightest and Mission Fields at the Friends Enmost promising legal lights. The Chief Justice of | deavour. the U.S. Supreme Court had described Brandeis as the ablest and most fearless man who had ever appeared before the august body. President Wil- expenses. son hoped to get Brandeis into his cabinet, instead put him on the Supreme Court (where he remained until 1939).

Among the solemn public pronouncements of this distinguished figure are these:

In 1914 he declared that the railroads had "reached the point of saturation of business" ten or fifteen years back (1899-1904).

About the same time he complained about the meeting on Sept. 20. high cost of insurance for the lower income groups. He compared what a worker would get from a certain insurance company if he paid premiums for 40 years (unfavorably) with what he would get if he put the same premiums into a savings bank for 40 years "if an interest rate of three and a half percent is maintained."

Here is the great Brandeis of the famous mind, the confidant of presidents, saying railroads had Thanksgiving night at the I.O.O. reached the end of their business growth around F. hall under the auspices the turn of the century.

His logic on insurance was worse. People who took his advice on that subject too would have no cause to praise him.

Some would have died a few months or years after starting to put their "premiums" into a bank savings fund. Their heirs would get only what Joseph St. had been paid in, with a little interest.

Brandeis plan for their future security deliver very much less than it promised because bank Oct. 12 and 13, Schomberg, Oct. interest rates did not stay at three and a half percent but slumped to one and a half and less. We tell this story not to chip lustre from the

But there is a mighty moral here. All men are Nov. 26. mortal and fallible. The great and the wise also make mistakes, misread the past, get confused about the present and are, like lesser men, often in New Ontario for over three myopic and squint-eyed about the future.

In the totalitarian, bureaucratic state, Brandeis would almost inevitably have held a high place. He would have had great influence and power. With his wide repute as "one of the bright minds," citizens have felt safe in his hands; would Shropshire, to James A. P. Ichave been predisposed in favor of his policies.

In the totalitarian, bureaucratic state, Brandeis would have had the power to influence, to give legislative form to his convictions about railroads and life insurance. Sincerely convinced that he was "planning" in the best interests of the American people, he would undoubtedly have undertaken "nationalization" of the U.S. railroad industry, prevented "waste of productive energy" on their continued expansion and development.

Again acting sincerely "in the public interest" Nov. 21. Brandeis would undoubtedly have sought by legislative means to prevent or discourage the "common man" from buying "expensive" life insurance instead of trusting to long life, unimpaired earning power, and three and a half percent on his bank deposits.

If given C rating it would probably huild a team composed of homebrews for truth to tell, both the Markham fans and management are a bit tired of all the inconvenience caused by using a team that is composed practically wholly of imports. They will at least be ripe for a juvenile team but will probably go junior.

hearty vote of thanks is due.

Stouffville is talking of junior O.H.A. recalling the fact they contributed such players as Al Boadway, Ike Harper and Jake Baker to the Markies in other seasons. It would probably be better advised to start back in hockey with midget and juvenile teams like it did in baseball until the game gets back on its feet. After all, it is six or seven years since a junior team was iced over there and since then the kid puck artists have been pretty well overlooked.

Unionville would be ready for minor hockey teams and would probably collaborate with Markham in the junior series. Richmond Hill will be back seeking its long awaited title and leaving no stone unturned to provide one. In past years the district collaborated pretty well to help a team finally land a cup and we think the Hill men who have carried on under difficulties the past years are deserving of help from those interested in hockey in other North York centres. An intermediate O.H.A. entry will again be provided from the bush league which promises to be bigger and better than ever. Aurora, despite what some may think, is not ripe for junior O.H.A. in our opinion. Strong juvenile, midget and bantam teams can be provided and we think Leonard Simmons, Del Babcock and Bill Holloway should be given a free hand in minor hockey again. There is no reason an intermediate team of sorts can not be formed for the O.H.A. There are or will be plenty of players on hand. Bush league hockey will again flourish.

Newmarket will likely stay out of the junior picture but kid hockey is due to see its best season with entries in a district minor circuit. Intermediate hockey should be about ready to go again and a town team would be able to draw players from the camp this year without any trouble. A nice group for travelling is a distinct possibility if the ground work is done now. Sutton will be a certainty for intermediate O.H.A. and for juvenile hockey with Maestro Ellis Pringle again in charge of the Sutton ice palace. The team in intermediate may not be as good as in former years but the Greenshirts will make a start towards postwar development. Schomberg will definitely enter Ontario rural competition and if the plans of Bob Moody materialize, minor hockey teams will be organized throughout the district to provide feeders for whatever O.R.H.A. teams are to be in existence.

St. Andrew's College plans another junior B entry in the prep school O.H.A. group and in addition will have both midget and juvenile entries in the O.M.H.A. There is the general survey of what we are able to learn right now but no telling what man hoppen when It gets!

Farmers milk by stop watch

OBTAINING the very best results from a milking machine is just one item in good management. And good management will be essential to profitable dairying in the post-war period.

Advance in breeding, betterments in disease prevention among herds and more efficient sanitation are sure to come. The dairy farmers' problem will be how to make the best use of these advantages-a problem which your agricultural college and experimental stations are tackling now, so that enterprising dairy farmers can have the answers in post-war time. This valuable service, which can mean the difference between profit and loss, will be available . . . for the asking.

The service of money is also an important one. Throughout 90 years the capable branch managers of the Bank of Toronto have helped innumerable responsible farmers with loans and experienced financial counsel-a friendly service which will be invaluable during post-war years.

To do our part, we must reduce our own consumption of meat and also assure that everyone in Canada gets a fair share.

That is why rationing is necessary.

MEAT RATIONING ADUS TO EVERYONE'S WORK

The producer who slaughters, the retailer who sells, the consumer who buys and eats—they all play a vital part.

AS A CONSUMER, HERE IS HOW YOU CAN CO-OPERATE

- 1. Try to plan your meat purchases before leaving home by determining what cuts you intend to buy and their approximate weights.
- 2. Make sure you have enough valid coupons and takens to cover your proposed purchases by referring to the Consumer Coupon Value Chart and the Coupan and Token Calculator. Copies may be obtained from your Local Ration Board or Ration Branch.
- 3. Know the dates your "M" coupons become valid. Do not buy more meat than you really need.
- 5. Avoid shopping at rush hours.
- 6. Be patient. Remember your butcher may have inexperienced help.

For the Immediate Attention of FARMERS FISHERMEN GUIDES TOURIST OUTFITTERS who have been using MARKED GASOLINE

- On and after October 1, 1945, gasoline will no longer be marked for special
- Marking of gasoline tor special uses under the jurisdiction of the Oil Controller for Canada having been discontinued, the tax exemption purchase permit system is thereby ended.
- Farmers, fishermen, guides and tourist outfitters will be entitled to claim refund of the Provincial Gasoline Tax where applicable. Claims, accompanied by receipted invoices, must be submitted to the Gasoline Tax Branch, Department of Highways, Parliament Buildings, Toronto within six months from date of payment of invoices.
- A simplified method of assuring prompt payment of refunds, eliminating affidavits for each claim, has been worked out.

As there is no rationing of gasoline in Canada, marked gasoline, under the jurisdiction of the Oil Controller for Canada, has been eliminated, thereby ending the tax exemption purchase permit system.

To meet the desire of everyone to be relieved of wartime restrictions, the Provincial Government has developed a new system as free from controls and difficulties as possible. A simplified refund form has been prepared which eliminates the necessity of an affidavit being taken for each refund claim. This form may be obtained on application to the Gasoline Tax Branch, Department of Highways, Toronto, Ontario.

- The ending of marked gasoline sale removes difficulties made necessary by this wartime control.
- · Complaints were made that marked gasoline was detrimental to the equipment in which it was being used.
- Records and reports necessary under the marked gasoline system will no longer be required.
- Extra storage facilities will be unnecessary for the separate storage of graded and marked gasoline with consequent saving to the consumer.

In the harness racing world, Bob Moody of Schomberg is singing the praises of his good pacer, Lady Lee Grattan, which has been in the money at Orangeville, Cooksville and elsewhere and appears to be a comer in the 2.28 class. Bob sold Bob Dales to his friend, Millar Wray, of Schomberg not long ago and Mr. Wray has another comer, his horse taking the feature event at Weston Lions meet not long ago and being headed for plenty of action this fall at the rural fairs. Besides his racing wins, Millar is pretty proud of the fact that a son and heir has been lately added to the Wray menage.

in OVERCOATS

My old overcoat is worn threadbare. The Clothing For Europe collection gets it and since I've got to buy a new one, I'm all for an overcoat that will wear a long time, yet won't cost too much money. Morrison's suit me and my pocket book as well.
